NUMBER 36

SEWER COST IS $90,000

To Work On Immediately

IS TO BE 2 MILES LONG

More than ten thousand feet of 30 and 24 inch double strength sewer pipe will be laid, in the completion of the main outfall sewer, which will be commenced soon, and plans and specifications for the construction of which were accepted by the city council.

Many engineering problems were presented and much of the sewer will be laid on piling.

The work will take from three to four months to complete after actual work has commenced, and it is estimated that the work will cost in the neighborhood of $90,000.

According to the plans, a 30-inch sewer pipe will be laid from the Standard Oil company's drainage canal, east along the north side of the Belt Line railway to Castro street.

A 24-foot pipe will run 4000 feet northeast along Castro street, and another 24-inch pipe of 5000 feet will run south on Castro street.

The sewer will run into the Richmond main sewer at Standard and Railroad avenues.

The main engineering difficulties will be the laying of much of the sewer in the open air on piling. A large number of men will be employed on the work, and although special machinery for digging will not be necessary, the work of driving the piles and laying the pipe will be complicated.

The sewer will form the main drainage source for a large part of the city, including the Santa Fe district, the Lucas and Turpin tracts, and all of the territory north of Pennsylvania avenue.

W. F. FREUDENBERG WILL BE CHAIRMAN OF CELEBRATION AT ANTHEM'S ANNIVERSARY

W. F. Freudenberg will act as chairman of the "Star Spangled Banner" anniversary celebration to be held in this city on September 13. Freudenberg was waited upon by a committee of local men yesterday and stated that it would be great pleasure to officiate in that capacity. From every source are coming words of commendation for the affair and that it will be a decided success is conceded in all quarters.

Considerable local talent has already announced its intention of participating in the program, which will be patriotic for the most part.

DADS NOT TO MEET NEXT MONDAY

Owing to the fact that Monday, the regular meeting night of the city council, falls on Labor Day, it was decided last night to postpone the meeting one day, and meet on Tuesday, September 8, for the discussion of the weekly business.

NATIVES HERE TO INVADE VALLEJO

Elaborate and extensive arrangements were completed at the meeting of the Richmond Parlor of Native Sons in Bank Hall last night for joining in with the Oakland parlors in attending the big Admission Day celebration in Vallejo on the 7th, 8th and 9th inst. Special Southern Pacific trains will carry the Piedmont, Athens, Oakland, Fruitvale, Brooklyn, Berkeley, Claremont and Richmond parlors to the navy yard city, beginning early on the morning of the 7th and returning until the 10th. Special excursion tickets, obtainable only from Native Sons, will be placed on sale today.

The big migration from Richmond will be on the night of the 8th, preparatory to the big day of the 9th, when the parade and other special features of the celebration will be held. The band will depart with the crowd on the evening of the 8th and will compete in the parade.

The attempts to secure boats to convey the locals were unsuccessful, because the San Francisco parlors had secured all of the available boats several weeks ago, and the local parlor could not arrange for any.

The migration of the locals is being managed by Andy Summers and A. F. Ross.

Two Natives were visitors at the lodge, Bobby Erwin of Chico and John St. Johns of Berkeley. The latter was here informing the members of the local parlor of the high fins the Berkeley parlor will hold in its lodge rooms on the 11th inst. and of the theater party they will give at the Orpheum on the 22nd.

MCKENZIE VISITS.

MENDELL BLAMES LIQUOR

Pleading "Not guilty" to the charge of defrauding an innkeeper, L. H. Mendell, better known as the west side by the name of A. J. Jackson, which he adopted, appeared before Judge Lindsey yesterday morning, and asked for a jury trial. The request was granted, and Friday set for the proceedings.

To explain why he had adopted various aliases, Mendell said that he had wealthy relatives in Missouri, and that he had been making a life struggle to overcome a habit, which despite his best efforts to keep back, broke out at times. He referred, he said, to liquor.

Mendell said that he had no intention of "beating" any bills, and that he always intended settlement. He said that he received a monthly check from his father's estate, and by working, had been in a position to make prompt settlements, and had no intention of defrauding any person to whom he might owe any money.

In speaking of the statement that he was "faking" at the Martinez hospital, Mendell said that he was at present suffering from injuries which had made an operation necessary, and that his physical condition had been sufficiently bad to induce the Southern Pacific company, from whose train he fell on July 13, to pay his physician's and hospital bills for many weeks, and to settle with him financially, outside of court.

Mendell was at one time a wireless operator, and has been in duty in many parts of the globe. He said last night that he had lived in Richmond at various times since 1902, and was known by many here under his true name. He added: "I deeply regret that the chain of coincidences have brought out the statements about me that they have. I do not like publicity, and am anxious to have the matter settled and over. I am positive that I will be acquitted Friday."

LOCAL SKIPPER TAKES COMMAND OF NEW CRAFT

Captain Charles McNeil will today assume command of the steamer Monarch, which will be the fastest boat plying between San Francisco and Sacramento. She will today make her maiden trip to Walnut Grove, above Rio Vista, with a large excursion of bankers from San Francisco. The steamer is owned by the Corporation company and is capable of 25 knots an hour. She will make a daylight run and return to Sacramento, something never before attempted by a boat.

Captain McNeil is very well known here, being a pioneer of the town.

Moon In New Role Assists Moose Men

Novelists and poets have commented at great length upon the moon. Mr. Moon has in the past been identified as an important factor to ardent lovers. But the local lodge of Moose is receiving the assistance of the "old night owl" in a new manner.

Every evening while Mr. Moon casts his golden beams down upon the city of Richmond, thirty Moosemen attired in drill team uniforms parade up and down the enclosed baseball yards at First street and

GOVERNMENT LOSES IN OPENING TILT IN OIL FIELDS CONTROVERSY

The United States government's application for a receiver for oil lands in the Kern-Midway oil fields, worth $10,000,000, was denied by Federal Judge Dooling in a decision which he rendered yesterday in the case of the United States government versus G. W. McCutcheon et al.

This decision, in which the California oil men won the first round in the titanic battle for millions of dollars' worth of oil lands in the state, will affect similar suits pending against other oil companies, and is far reaching in its effect upon the oil industry.

MELON FEED ENJOYED BY LODGE

The Fraternal Brotherhood, a whist party was held last night in Fraternal Hall. Following the playing of the games, a watermelon feast was served.

The first lady's prize was won by Mrs. L. Osborn, the second by Mrs. H. W. Livingstone, the third by Mrs. Nellie Adams, and the consolation by Mrs. Zeb Klett. The first gentleman's prize was won by H. Schram, the second by Frank R. Bailey, the third by J. P. Labelle and the consolation by H. E. McDonough.

The committee in charge of the evening's affair was composed of Frank R. Bailey, William Holland, Ray Holland and C. L. Mitchell.

Plans are under way for holding another whist party the first Wednesday in October.

Other defendants in the suit decided yesterday by Judge Dooling are the Pacific Midway Oil Company, the Maricopa Queen Oil company, J. D. Spreckels, the General Petroleum company, the Standard Oil company, the American Oriental company and about twenty others.

Judge Dooling's decision means that the government's suit to have the patents on these lands canceled and the locations set aside will now have to go to trial on its merits.

E. J. Justice and A. I. McCormick, special assistants to the attorney general, who appeared for the government, brought the suit in the federal court of the southern district of California, but the case was heard by Judge Dooling.

Some of the prominent attorneys involved were Harding & Monroe, Lindley & Eickhor, Lewis T. Andrews, Samuel Shortridge and T. O. Toland.

The oil lands in question are those from which much of the supply secured at the Richmond branch of the Standard Oil company is received.

FIRE DAMAGE IS $500

According to the estimate of Building Inspector Wierda and Fire Chief Le Moine, the damage caused by fire in the J. O. Ford home on the west side amounted to between $450 and $500. The fire was caused by crossed electric wires in the basement of the building.

STREET WORK IS AIRED

The protest of H. C. Cutting and the Point Richmond Land company against the improvement of Richmond avenue, for which the California Road and Street Improvement Company hold a contract, was heard in part last night by the city council. No definite answer was given by the body, and the matter was postponed until Tuesday night.

General W. H. H. Hart, representing the Cutting interests, said that he was protesting because his clients did not want to pay the assessments on 200 feet while the Nicholl interests paid assessments on 100 feet depth, and the Cutting people could not get any frontage.

Attorney Everett of Fresno represented the California Road and Street Improvement Company, and protested that the Cutting protest was not a protest, claiming that they asked consideration of matters which the city council had no right to consider. His protest was overruled by the city council, as they stated that it was their policy to be lenient in the construction of the law, and that the hearing of the Cutting witnesses could do no harm.

The testimony of Engineer Smith of the Cutting company was protested by Everett, who said that it was expert testimony, and not proper for the occasion. Other witnesses were City Engineer Chapman and H. C. Cutting.

Many legal questions were involved, and it was the opinion of several of the councilmen last night that the matter would be one of difficult solution. That it may be carried to the Superior Court was suggested as possible.

PROTEST IS OVERRULED BY COUNCIL

While Paul Dunlap, on one side of the rail in the council chambers, was holding an animated conversation on the points of the law with City Attorney D. J. Hall last night, the city council overruled his protest against the improvement of Richmond, Idaho and other streets.

Dunlap said that the council should consider the facts set forth in his protest, and that the 1911 laws did not say that his wife must appear to make the protest. The council maintained that the statement in the protest could not be considered as facts and asked that he produce evidence.

While debating whether or not to set a date for future meetings, Dunlap said: "There is your protest. The facts are in it. Overrule it, or sustain it." He then began a conversation with City Attorney Hall, and the council overruled the protest.

THE WHITE BOOKS.

What staggered the American public in the European crisis more even than its extent was its suddenness. Such an event, we felt, ought somehow to have come only after due preparation, with solemn deliberation and formal state. Instead it sprang up like a titanic jack-in-the-box, and for days we could not bring ourselves to believe it was anything but a trick to frighten us, a huge joke which presently would be cleared.

Europe was more prepared than we. Measures had been taken, such as the increase of armies, the accumulation of gold reserves, the storing of supplies. Here and there men said, "It is coming soon, in a year, in six months," and among all men there was the underlying conviction that some day it must come.

Yet when it did come it was a bewildering precipitation. Read the so-called "white books" of the German and British governments. There are recorded the elaborate tactics of diplomacy in search of peace. Yet behind this anxious effort of statesmen seems to move unseen the terrible hand of destiny, inexorable, pitiless, urgent. Often the negotiations would seem to be within a hair's breadth of success. At the next move they would be entangled hopelessly. At all times, to us who read in the cool detachment of our American situation, there was every reason for hope, yet always there was this headlong pressure toward war. The American diplomacy seems exigent, arrogant. Her demands were an ultimatum with a time limit so short as almost to preclude anything but flat refusal or instant acceptance. England was begging for time, but Russia was mobilizing, and Germany knew that time was her most dangerous foe. So the crisis rose and swept toward its climax with the irresistible speed of a hurricane. Unquestionably on the side of the diplomatic exchange the Germans have the worst of it. The methods of the Austrian King were not merely stern, they gave ample excuse for the belief that she sought war, that her spirit was drastically aggressive, and that she did not wish to find a way out.

On the other hand, the facts as to the extent of Russian mobilization are not yet known. If they were what the German government believed them to be, Germany dare not spend time upon negotiations.

Did statecraft blunder? Did Austria get out of hand long enough to commit herself and her ally fatally? Was Russia plotting to force the issue? Were both sides finessing until it was too late? Was either side or both sides determined to fight from the first?

History may determine some or all of these questions. If it does so it will decide not upon the allegations of "white books," but upon the evidence of forces active for many years in the affairs of Europe.

Meanwhile we in republican America will have our opinion on the facts we are able to see, the most significant of which, to us, is this: That it was the military autocracies—Germany, Austria, Russia—that were forcing the situation with their ultimatums and their swift mobilizations. It was professional world politics, conscious of its armies saturated with distrust and spurred by ambition, that had control of the issues of peace and war.

Germany and Russia owe civilization better arbiters of her fate than war lords and mediaeval chancellors.

WASTE IN THE SCHOOLS.

The average age at which a student completes the course in medicine in France, Germany, or Great Britain is 23. In the Netherlands it is 24. The average age of the graduate of an American medical college exacting a preparatory training equal to that of the continental medical schools is 26. There is a difference of at least two years in the ages at which physicians are ready to enter upon practice in the United States. Why this waste of time? And where does it come in?

Principal Franklin W. Johnson of the University high school, Chicago, answers these questions in an article on "Waste in Education" in a recent issue of the Popular Science Monthly. We are wasting these two years, he says, in our elementary and secondary schools. We assign eight years to elementary, four years to secondary, and four years to collegiate education. This allotment of time to the various schools, he asserts, is not based on any rational theory, but is rather the result of accident.

The waste in our elementary and secondary schools, Principal Johnson claims, is due in the first place to a lack of co-ordination between the separate parts of our school organization. In the next place it is due to the inferior training of our teachers. The teachers in the German secondary schools are much better equipped both in scholastic and professional requirements than American teachers are. A man is not appointed instructor in a gymnasium merely on the strength of his diploma. He must go through his "trial period" before he is permanently intrusted with the work of teaching. Germany, however, can exact such requirements from its teachers much more readily, it is pointed out, because the position there is practically for life and carries a pension with it, while in the United States teachers pretty generally aim to get out of their profession after a time because of its economic limitations. And while they are in it they are shifted from school to school.

The Chicago principal outlines a program for the elimination of this waste from our educational system. Improve the methods of instruction, he suggests, have a better adjustment of our school organization, eliminate unnecessary reviews and repetitions, and, last but not least, lengthen the school year by cutting down the long summer vacations. These are suggestions to be taken seriously by the men and women directing our educational system. To waste two years of a youth's life in unnecessary dawdling is and between schools is not only reprehensible, it is well nigh criminal.

THE FASHIONS.

In 1870 the interruption of the fashions was not the immediate consequence of hostilities. It was not until Versailles had fallen that Paris accommodated itself to the fact that it was in difficulty. Ernest Alfred Vizetelly's book, "My Days of Adventure," describes how the Parisians finally accepted the seriousness of their situation. This war correspondent was in Paris during the siege. Later he was with the army of the Loire and in the six days' fighting at La Mans.

Paris had been extraordinarily indifferent to failure of French arms. The boulevards were cleared of gay men and women only when the national guard became disgusted, closed the restaurants, and swept the spectacle of light hearted gaiety off the streets. Then the Parisians found the Germans at their doors.

"The Viscountess de Renneville issued an announcement stating that in presence of the events which were occurring she was constrained to suspend the publication of her renowned journal of fashions, La Gazette Rosee. This was a tragic blow, both for the Parisians themselves and for all the world beyond them. There would be no more Paris fashions! To what despair would not millions of women be reduced? How would they dress, even supposing that they should contrive to dress at all? The thought was appalling, and as one and another great couturier closed his doors, Paris began to realize that her prestige was indeed in jeopardy.

The catastrophe has come earlier this time. When mobilization was ordered the boulevards and cafes were put on war footing instantly, the curfew began to ring, and Americans to consider how fashions might be contrived and dictated at home.

By falling back upon the native ruggedness of our national character we probably shall be able to survive this debacle of clothes.

ART OF GROWING OLD GRACEFULLY.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]
Few of us cross the threshold of a birthday to enter the open door of another year without the sorrowful conviction that we have been unprofitable servants and without the hope that in the year to come we shall do better. Oliver Wendell Holmes wrote "The Boys" for the reunion of his aged classmates to prove Old Time a liar; Joseph H. Choate, after he was 70, said his experience proved to him that the eighth decade was the best of all; and an astute Frenchwoman continuing year after year to give her age as 35, because, she said, she was not one who would be guilty of saying one thing at one time and another thing at another. Yet we do not all wear our years so gracefully. Some of us repine at the calendar's reminder and would erase the record if we could. We wish no commemoration of an unwise fact. We are content to let our juniors have the candies and the cake and the birthday presents.

But there are ways of not letting the calendar know how old we are. The secret of perennial youth seems to have been whispered to a few fortunate souls. We do not think of them as growing old, for their hearts are always young within them and the spirit of play alive. They have the sense of humor and of blithe abandon which even the occasional minor cadences of tragedy cannot obliterate. They are not pessimists who brood upon departed glories and can forecast naught but black evil in the days to come. They believe that "the best is yet to be," and they are unafraid of what the future holds. Each birthday, though it may write some trivial legend of age upon the physical frame, finds the spiritual attendant younger still.

TRIALS OF WORKING WOMEN.

Complaint is being made that in all our recent agitation for the intelligent handling of the problem of unemployment woman was completely lost sight of. As a matter of fact, it is stated, woman suffers from unemployment to a not inconsiderable extent. Many of the trades open to her are seasonal. In time of general depression women get no more consideration from employers than men.

While there are, however, a hundred and one places where the unemployed man can spend the day, and even night, where he can find shelter from cold and rain, where he can even get food free, the number of places open to the unemployed woman is very small. She cannot spend the day in a saloon. She cannot sleep in a hallway. She does not enjoy the man's privilege of pan-handling. She cannot beg in the street the price of a cup of coffee.

Why does not the woman who is in such a plight turn to housework? is often asked. To begin with, there is no housework for all such unemployed women. Then, again, not all such women are fit for housework. You cannot make a cook out of a glove-maker or a bindery girl on short notice, or no notice at all. The problem of unemployment among women, it is argued, must be met with the same provisions and agencies that come to the help of the unemployed man. There is not only reason in this demand; justice and humanity are on its side. The woman out of a job is entitled to all the consideration man gets—and more.

The real test of "watchful waiting" now approaches. Mexico is full of threats. Villa's attitude toward Carranza and the faction of the Constitutionalists in possession of Mexico City is one of undisguised suspicion. He has had no part in the triumph, but remains in the north with his army. Carranza's attitude toward him is one of indifference if not hostility.

It is to be wished fervently that these contentions men will find some way to keep the peace themselves and allow what there is of the undisturbed world to have peace.

HIGH SCHOOL CAMPUS SEETHES RALLY POSTPONMENT IS CAUSE

Shades of the immortal Caesar.

Internal strife has broken out among the students of the local high school. And all because of an announcement issued yesterday by the Student Affairs, the groups of students which regulate the campus life, that the big bonfire rally scheduled for Friday night was to be postponed indefinitely.

At a meeting of the entire student body the other afternoon it was decided by unanimous vote to hold a big rally Friday night for the purpose of getting up enthusiasm for the coming football season. Like a bolt out of a clear sky came the announcement then, that the rally was postponed indefinitely.

In the meantime it is rumored that a protest declaring the illegality of such a move is being started by the students.

LABOR NEWS

"In unity there is strength, united we stand divided

LABOR LEADERS TO ADDRESS U. OF C. STUDENTS

The annual celebration of Labor Day at the University of California will be made doubly important this year because of the presence of the leading official of the most powerful American trade union. On Monday the students in Harmon Gymnasium will be addressed by Austin B. Garretson, president of the Order of Railway Conductors. Garretson will speak on "Collective Bargaining."

He has had more experience in drawing up contracts between employers and employees than any other labor leader in the United States and also enjoys the unique distinction of being the highest paid trade union official in America.

The students will also hear a notable Pacific Coast representative of labor in Paul Scharrenberg, secretary-treasurer of the California State Federation of Labor. Scharrenberg will speak on "The Meaning of Labor Day."

LABOR COUNCIL ELECTS OFFICERS

An election to fill several vacancies in the offices of the Central Labor Council was held at that labor organization's meeting in Central Hall last night. James Kennedy, well known in local labor circles and a prominent member of the local Pottery Union, was elected to the office of president. L. Holclaw was elected to the office of trustee, while three members were elected to fill vacancies on the committee on law and Legislature. They were P. J. Throll, H. L. Springer and J. W. Smiley. A lengthy discussion took place on the adoption of new by-laws and the meeting in general was very busy. A report from the hop fields of Durst Bros., near Wheatland, were to the effect that the hops were turning red on the vines on account of the lack of pickers to reap the harvest. The growers who were negligent of the sanitary and working conditions for their pickers last year, it was said, are this year suffering the avoidance of the pickers to such an extent that the returns from their crop will amount to practically nothing.

A financial statement from the California State Federation of Labor in Mexico relative to the financing of the lockout disturbances in Stockton were to the effect that the outlook for the unions winning the fight in the Slough City were good indeed.

The following letter was received by the council last night relative to the Stockton situation:

"It has been brought to the attention of the undersigned, the executive committee of the defense movement in the city of Stockton that many scurrilous and misleading statements are being circulated by the emissaries of the M. M. & E., having for their purpose the object of trying to create a feeling among the members of organized labor in the state of California that organized labor in the city of Stockton is not united."

"We, therefore, take this means of communicating to you the knowledge that never before in the history of organized labor, when in battle, has there been a more perfect spirit of unity and integrity displayed. Not only is this true of the men, but of the women and children, and if ever the motto, 'One for all and all for one,' was put into action in its proper manner, it certainly is the motto of organized labor here in the city of Stockton at this time."

"Wishing you every success, we have the honor to remain,

"Respectfully and fraternally,

"EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE."

FEE STATEMENTS BRANDED FALSE BY LABOR HEAD

Before the United States Commission on Industrial Relations, P. H. McCarthy, president of the State Building Trades and the San Francisco Building Trades Council, branded as false the statements of Grant Fee, president of the Building Trades Employers' Association, which were addressed to the commission at a previous hearing.

Speaking as an advocate of organized labor, he denied that San Francisco was stagnant in a business way, that no Eastern capital had been invested there within the past three years, and that industries had been driven elsewhere because of the despotic control of leaders, and by the arbitrary positions taken by labor unions of the city. He offered the statement that the wages in the trades in San Francisco were lower than in the southern California cities, and that the only specific instance wherein factories had located elsewhere resulted in the fact that exorbitant prices were asked for ground here, while other cities had provided desirable sites free and had subscribed to the capital stock of the enterprise. Particularly did he bring out the point with relation to a large film company and a cracker company.

Fee stated that although California offered opportunities for over twenty millions of people, only a little more than three million had settled here, due, he said, to labor organizations.

McCarthy said it was due to the enormous holdings of a few wealthy people and the importation of Asiatic labor.

Not only was Fee attacked for what was termed the falsity and absurdity

Methodist Ladies Are Entertained By Baptist Club

Members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Baptist church entertained the Methodist Ladies' Aid Society at the home of Mrs. Paul Dunlap, 37 Terrace avenue, yesterday afternoon. More than fifty were present. A most enjoyable affair was spent at games and the rendition of a musical and vocal program. Those who participated included Mrs. J. Stokes, solo; Mrs. Grace Harshner, solo; Miss Merle Jenkins, solo, and Mrs. S. Jenkins, solo.

In the games Mrs. Totten took first prize and Mrs. Gerlach second prize. Refreshments were served in cafeteria style. The committee which had charge of the affair included Mrs. S. Stouf, Mrs. C. E. Bennett, Mrs. Grace Harshner, Mrs. Hancock and Mrs. Paul Dunlap.

Before the party broke up the members of the Methodist society extended a vote of thanks to their hostesses.

RICHMOND MUNICIPAL WATER CORPORATION vs. PRIVATE WATER CORPORATIONS.

As near as I can learn there is sold and consumed in the boundaries of Richmond water district about four million gallons of water daily. The price, therefore, is hard to estimate, as special rates are given to large factories, but it runs about this way as far as I know:

The bottled water, of which a large majority of our people now use for drinking, costs at the rate of $100 per thousand gallons. The water for lawns, gardens and cooking, 35 cents per thousand. Whatever the factories may pay can hardly bring the average cost of water from all sources below 25 cents per thousand gallons. Taking that as a basis, it makes simple figuring. Four million gallons at 25 cents per thousand, $1000 per day, or $365,000 per year. Think of it. If we pay the same to the municipal plant for eight years, without selling any water to other towns at all, and without Richmond giving a particle in that time, we would still have paid to our own water plant nearly a half million dollars more than it cost to build it, or to be exact, just $2,920,000. Now then should we sell to Bay Point, Antioch, Martinez, Crockett, Selby and Pinole together as much as we use ourselves, we could in all probability pay the whole bond off in five years. And again: Should our own city and all of the others mentioned double in population in that time, as we all expect them to do—then at the same price we are paying for water now, in the next five years, after that, our plant would in all probability pay half the city taxes, besides paying its own upkeep. Now this might be a bit visionary, yet it is certain as death that we will pay the water companies at least 25 cents per thousand gallons in the next five years, or $2,920,000 for water unit for factory uses and for drinking, and so scant in quantity that we must depend wholly upon our chemical fire extinguishers to save our city from conflagrations. Shall we continue to do this, or shall we, the people of Richmond, vote the proposed $2,500,000 bond, which will be paid by the sale of water? And run our pipe line to Toland's Landing, only 45 miles, over practically level surface all of the way, tapping a mighty river, which drains 2700 miles of mountains so rough as to be forever uninhabited and where the river at its lowest stages is less than 48 hours flow from those perpetual snow peaks which gives it birth. In my judgment there is not a single country on earth of our size and population that can boast of river water as pure as the water that flows from the eternal snow peaks of the high Sierras to Toland's Landing in so short a time.

It is up to the people of Richmond on the 22d of this month to sit in judgment and decide whether to vote a bond of $2,500,000, fully one-half of which will be thrown into the lap of the laboring people of Richmond, on whether they will continue, as they are now doing, and pay $2,900,000 to the water corporations in eight years for water of which they get scant supply and so rotten that the Standard Oil Company has installed a filtration plant at a cost of a good many thousand dollars to purify the water for their laborers to drink, evidently to avoid the penalties of the employers' liability act.

of his claims, but he was bombarded with facts and philosophy by McCarthy until the atmosphere of the ball room sizzled.

Fee was the first witness called, and read a typewritten copy of answers to the commission's questions, digressing from time to time to criticize some particular phase of unionism which as an employing contractor he deemed offensive.

McCarthy followed with off-hand answers and dissertations on methods followed in many cases by the employing class. He left his reply to Fee's attack upon San Francisco's present day claims of prosperity until the last and then made up for any loss of time with an avalanche of union ammunition. He read a copy of correspondence with the employers' association, which supported his contention that if there were any arbitrary demands made in San Francisco, or arbitrary rules laid down in working conditions, the employers and not the employees were the ones who had attempted to have them enforced.

CLUB MANAGERS ARE WAR DIPLOMATS

THREATENED BLOODSHED BETWEEN THREE TEAMS IS AVERTED; GOSSIP

Diplomatic advances by rival managers have practically smoothed over the threatened baseball war between the San Pablo, Winehaven and Red Men teams. San Pablo started the fun by breaking away from a four-game series compact which she had with the Red Men, it is said. San Pablo then signed for a series with Winehaven. Much wrought up over this act, the Red Men demanded an explanation. After considerable discussion, the Red Men and San Pablo clubs have practically agreed to meet on the 9th and 13th. However, the San Pablo club is booked for Winehaven on the 13th and the club Solomons are working overtime figuring just how the affair is going to wind up.

Manager "Happy" Bradley of the Red Men declared last night that while the team had not as yet secured an opponent to take the place of San Pablo next Sunday, negotiations were under way which should bring results today.

"Mike" Jones, the new addition to the Red Men pitching staff, looks like a comer. Jones was with Visalia and in a recent game with Tulare won, 1 to 0, fanning 19.

Clarence Brown, the old reliable third sacker of the club, will be back in harness Sunday.

The work of Owen Duncan at short is causing considerable favorable comment.

ALAS THINK OF FANS WHO WATCH THIS

Deep mystery surrounds the signing for a game between Martinez and Concord for next Sunday.

The reason may have been that Martinez, having heard of the 21 to 4 score, thought they might possibly make a winning with the Concord boys, and asked for a game.

Or, on the other hand, it may be that they know that they are entering the jaws of death, and just to sustain their old-time rep, and have a chance to kick up their heels and yell a trifle, have signed up, with a full realization of the terrible odds which they face.

At any rate, the Martinez boys announce that they will play Concord, and Concord seems to be perfectly willing to administer a good drubbing, so, lovers of a massacre, turn out to the Martinez diamond, or grab a sporting special edition and read the details of the killing.

UNION IRON BOYS TANGLE WITH ELKS HERE SUNDAY

The fast Union Iron Works' baseball club will be pitted against the Elks on the local arena next Sunday. Negotiations for the contest were consummated yesterday. The San Francisco bunch is considered one of the classiest semi-pro' clubs in the state and will probably give the Elks a nice little run for the fat end of the score table. Manager Howard French has not yet decided who will work for the locals, but intimated that Burns would start the fun.

San Rafael was the club which it was originally intended to meet next Sunday. However, at the last hour the San Rafael bunch suddenly developed a case of "chillyfeetis" and called the contest off.

The Ambrose Tailor squad, which tangles with the Elks on September 20, has practically clinched its claim as champions of Alameda county. Last Sunday the tailor boys defeated the Alameda team and the preceding Sunday slipped over a win on the Giants. The contest, which will be played here, will decide the championship of the two counties.

San Pablo and Winehaven will mix it next Sunday.

Martinez is reorganizing its baseball (?) club. Since when did they have one of those things?

TO THE VOTERS.

Through the columns of the Daily News I wish to extend my sincere thanks to the men and women of Contra Costa county for the large vote given me in the Primary election. I greatly appreciate the approval of my conduct in the office of tax collector and hope to continue to merit it. MARTIN W. JOOST.

ADS ARE POPULAR READING.

A newspaper's information ala so varied it contains news to suit everyone. Some years ago a person who read the ads in a newspaper or magazine was considered odd, and it is true the ads were crude, the articles advertised often being out of season or of a style and texture entirely out of fashion. But now it is different. Advertising furnishes the most interesting reading matter in the newspaper. It is instructive, teaching the public how to reduce the cost of living and at the same time get the best standard goods.

If you don't already read ads—get the habit—it's a liberal education.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES BY SCOOP

Great was the disappointment among the members of the football team yesterday when the word was received from Martinez high that they could not play the locals on the gridiron. They are evidently satisfied with the victory they inflicted upon us at the last meeting, but not so the locals, who are confident that they will be able to produce the team this year that will be able to regain the drooping laurels of R. U. H. S. Martinez, without knowing our weight, gave the excuse that Richmond's team was too heavy, when as a matter of fact it is one of the lightest in this section of the state.

The plucky bunch from Mt. Diablo high of Concord completed arrangements for a game, which will be held on September 19. The Diablo boys are good, clean sports and the game should be a fast, snappy and close contest. Dunn, Titcomb and Faschlen of Concord are strong men this year and promise a good run for the locals.

The first real match of the season will be held with the second team of Berkeley high on the 12th inst. And the game is being awaited with much interest by Coaches Kelly and Maddox, for it is not until after a game that it is possible to get a line on a player and his adaptability to the position which he is playing.

The turnout of about twenty men last night was encouraging and a very good practice was held. Coach Kelly, who was on the job last night, was very much encouraged and augurs an excellent showing of the locals. However, efforts will be made to further enlarge the training squad so that two complete teams may be out for practice.

Two members of the alumni, Alfred Childs and Tyrell Stokes were present at the practice, looking over the bunch that the alumni hope to down next Saturday afternoon. Childs stated that it would be an easy job, but the pigskin followers, with a few more night's practice, will be able to make the past luminaries know that they are playing a real game at least.

The first meeting of the C. E. and D. S. of the high school was held last night. The topic was relative to the war now engaging the European powers, and arrangements were also discussed for debating for the coming year.

The name of the club is the Current Event and Debating Society and among the members who are prominent in its recent organization are Walter Hoffman '14, Joe Sharp '14, Paul Pollett '15, Lawrence Cameron '15, and Donald Grey '15.

The Junior Sierra club will take on a new feature with the extensive hike being planned for the 5, 6 and 7. Kodaking, cameraing and snap-shooting will be the new department, and a number of the score who will make the trip to Frank Lagoon plan to go equipped with camera and film.

That this new department will mean the making of the club to a great extent is the opinion of Principal Tucker, for nothing so greatly excites interest in a hike as the pictures taken along the route.

Ervin Barr, the rotund bawler of the yelling department, was an industrious lad yesterday, and wrote out, by the help of a stenographer and mimeograph, 230 copies of the official yells for the coming athletic season.

Affiliation With a Strong Bank is desirable because the selection of such a bank as your business partner reflects credit upon you and your judgment.

If you are entitled to financial assistance or general counsel, that bank with which you have allied yourself is the one most ready to aid you, because it is in a way your partner and because its officials know you and to what you are entitled.

This is so whether you are in business and need the assistance of a commercial bank like the First National Bank, or whether you have unemployed funds to place in a safe depository for a greater or less period of time at interest, like the Richmond Savings Bank.

"MARTIN EDEN" NEXT BILL AT RICHMOND

Scene from Jack London's famous story, "MARTIN EDEN," which appears at the Richmond theater on Friday and Saturday.

Sentiment predominates in the picture, "Hearts of Oak," shown last evening at the Richmond theater and which will be shown today. The tale is of two orphans, brought up by a kind-hearted fisherman.

"CABIRIA" ON M'DONOUGH BILL

"Cabiria," the sensational play which is being shown for the last week at the Macdonough theater in Oakland, has been one of the greatest drawing cards of any of the special filmed dramas which have been shown in Oakland.

The magnificent scale upon which the play is staged has been much commented on.

Another special feature which has brought forth much favorable comment is the music of the symphony orchestra and chorus, which have been engaged to furnish the musical accompaniment.
